

East Ridge High School Army JROTC
Warrior Battalion Newsletter

EAST RIDGE HIGH SCHOOL
JROTC DEPARTMENT
19471 Lick Mountain Road
Lick Creek, Kentucky 41501
The Work Force, 15 November 2007

It with my utmost pleasure that I notify you, the Workforce of Pike County Board of Education of the happening at East Ridge High School's, Junior Reserve Officers Training Corps Department. This news letter is the consequences of the brain storming efforts of the Leadership Education and Training Level III and IV Cadets. The Cadets, using the "Thinking Process" utilized the Bubble Map, Double Bubble Map and the Tree Map to achieve these results. As you will observe the majority of Bloom's Taxonomy is being be acquainted with Knowledge, Comprehension, Application, Analysis and the Structured Reflection of What? So What? And Now What?

I hope you will join us in sharing our delight of yet another success story coming for East Ridge High school. This will confirm that our student body will leap upon a mission when given a Task, Condition and Standard and respond to the challenge with outstanding results. We perceive that this is the direction The Pike County Board of Education's "Mission Statement" wants us to journey.

We would like to thank the Pike County Board of Education for the opportunity to serve the children of Pike County in this most rewarding and noblest of professions, Junior Reserve Officers Training Corps Instructor.

Sincerely Your,
Bruce A. Catlett
John W. Pfannenstein

*Distribution is as follows:
1 – All Employees in Pike County*